MANCHESTER (14 October) — Harlow Textiles, a 120-year-old manufacturer of upholstery fabrics, announced on Tuesday that it will open a research and development center in the city's Ancoats district next spring. — [1] —. The facility will focus on developing fabrics made from recycled plastics and plant-based fibres.

The decision comes after several years of declining sales in the company's traditional product lines. — [2] —. "Our customers, particularly hotel chains and airlines, are increasingly asking for materials that meet strict environmental standards," said CEO Margaret Ellison. "This center will allow us to meet that demand."

The center will initially employ about 40 researchers and technicians, many of whom will be recruited from nearby universities. — [3] —. Harlow also plans to partner with the University of Manchester on a three-year study of fibre durability.

Not everyone has welcomed the news. Some local residents have expressed concern about increased lorry traffic in Ancoats, a largely residential area. — [4] —. A public meeting to address these concerns will be held on 2 November at the Ancoats Community Hall.

49. What is the purpose of the article?
(A) To report on a company's expansion plans
(B) To profile a company's new chief executive
(C) To announce the results of a study

To: events@pinecrest.example
From: Hiroshi Tanaka
Date: March 3
Subject: Booking request

Hello,

I'd like to book a meeting room for our sales team on Thursday, March 12. There will be 42 attendees. We'll need lunch, and since the session runs until 5:00 P.M., something to keep everyone going in the afternoon would be appreciated. We won't need anything in the evening, as most attendees will be catching flights.

Also, one of our presenters, Ms. Ivanova, will need a microphone that connects to her laptop. Could you confirm that this is available? Finally, please send the invoice to Ms. Delgado in our accounts department rather than to me.

Best regards,
Hiroshi Tanaka

To: careers@brightwell.example
From: Sofia Brandt
Date: 28 April
Subject: Regional Operations Analyst

---

Dear Hiring Team,

I am writing to apply for the Regional Operations Analyst position. I hold a master's degree in supply chain management from Erasmus University Rotterdam and have spent the past four years at Kessler Freight in Hamburg, where I managed cross-border routes between Germany and the Benelux countries.

I am a native speaker of German, fluent in English, and have passed the advanced-level state examination in Dutch. Please note that I will be travelling in Asia from 18 May to 29 May, but I will be reachable by e-mail throughout.

Kind regards,
Sofia Brandt

To: Sofia Brandt
From: Annelies de Vries, Human Resources
Date: 12 May
